

Adrian Ford

Background and career history

Adrian started his career in Pest Control in 1999 working as a Service Technician for Active Pest Control. In 2002 he moved to Igrox Pest Management and during this employment attained BPCA Diploma's Parts I & II. It was here that Adrian also gained experience servicing flour, rice and maize mills, along with a wide variety of food factories and bulk storage facilities.

In 2005 he was offered a position at the Rank Hovis flour mill in Selby, and progressed to the role of Second Miller, attaining Nabim Flour Milling Diplomas in "Materials, handling, storage" and "Wheat & Screen Room".

Adrian returned to the pest control industry in 2007 and became a High Dependency Technician for Rentokil Pest Control. In 2008-2009 he was seconded, under contract to the Libyan Government, and spent 12 Months in Tripoli, as part of a small team controlling an endemic rat population and training Libyan nationals' in pest control.

In 2012 Adrian qualified as a Rentokil Field Biologist. His duties included carrying out in depth inspections, mainly to food and key account customers' premises. During this time Adrian gained experience in compiling action plans to eradicate complex pest infestations, and providing advice and recommendations to help maintain pest free environments. He also attained the level 3 Award in Food Safety Supervision for Manufacturing whilst working for Rentokil.

Adrian joined Acheta in May 2016
